Chair and CEO review

Kia ora and welcome to T&G's six month update to 30 June 2024.

Over the first half of the year we made solid progress delivering our strategy and navigating and adjusting to the market and macro-economic conditions as we continue to recover from the impact of Cyclone Gabrielle.

The investment and mahi put in over the last five years to build the foundations for our growth has set us up well and we are seeing the benefits of this in our Apples and T&G Fresh businesses. We are very pleased with the performance of our new state-of-the-art Hawke's Bay packhouse and our Queensland berry farm in this financial period and look forward to them delivering increased returns going forward.

It has however been a slower than expected start to the year due to the lingering impacts of the cyclone, which has reduced our Hawke's Bay apple volumes. We have also experienced weak fruit and vegetable pricing in the domestic market due to plentiful supply coupled with current economic conditions. This impacted our financial results for the period.

Total revenue for the Group was $820.1 million, an increase of 7% from $765.3 million in the comparable half year. Operating loss was $2.6 million, compared to a loss of $11.6 million in 2023, and there was a loss before income tax of $8.2 million compared to a loss of $21.4 million in the year prior.

Net loss after tax for the period was $18.6 million, including a tax expense of $10.4 million. Tax expense as of 30 June 2024 includes a one-off, non-cash adjustment for deferred tax on buildings of $12.7 million. This relates to the New Zealand Government enacting changes to local tax legislation to remove the ability for entities to depreciate commercial buildings with a useful life over 50 years for tax deduction purposes.

Apples performance

Revenue in our Apples business increased 14% to $589 million, compared to $518 million in 2023.

This season's Aotearoa New Zealand-grown apples are high quality, with the fruit flavour profile and storability among the best we have seen in a number of years. Fruit colour is generally good, although some Hawke's Bay

ENVY™ apples did not develop their full colour. However, as noted, commensurate with the industry-wide experience, our Hawke's Bay crop is smaller in size and our packout subsequently reduced. Following last year's launch of our premium JOLI™ apple, we have begun developing 20 hectares of our Hawke's Bay orchards. This year, six hectares will be put in the ground, with further plantings over the next few years.

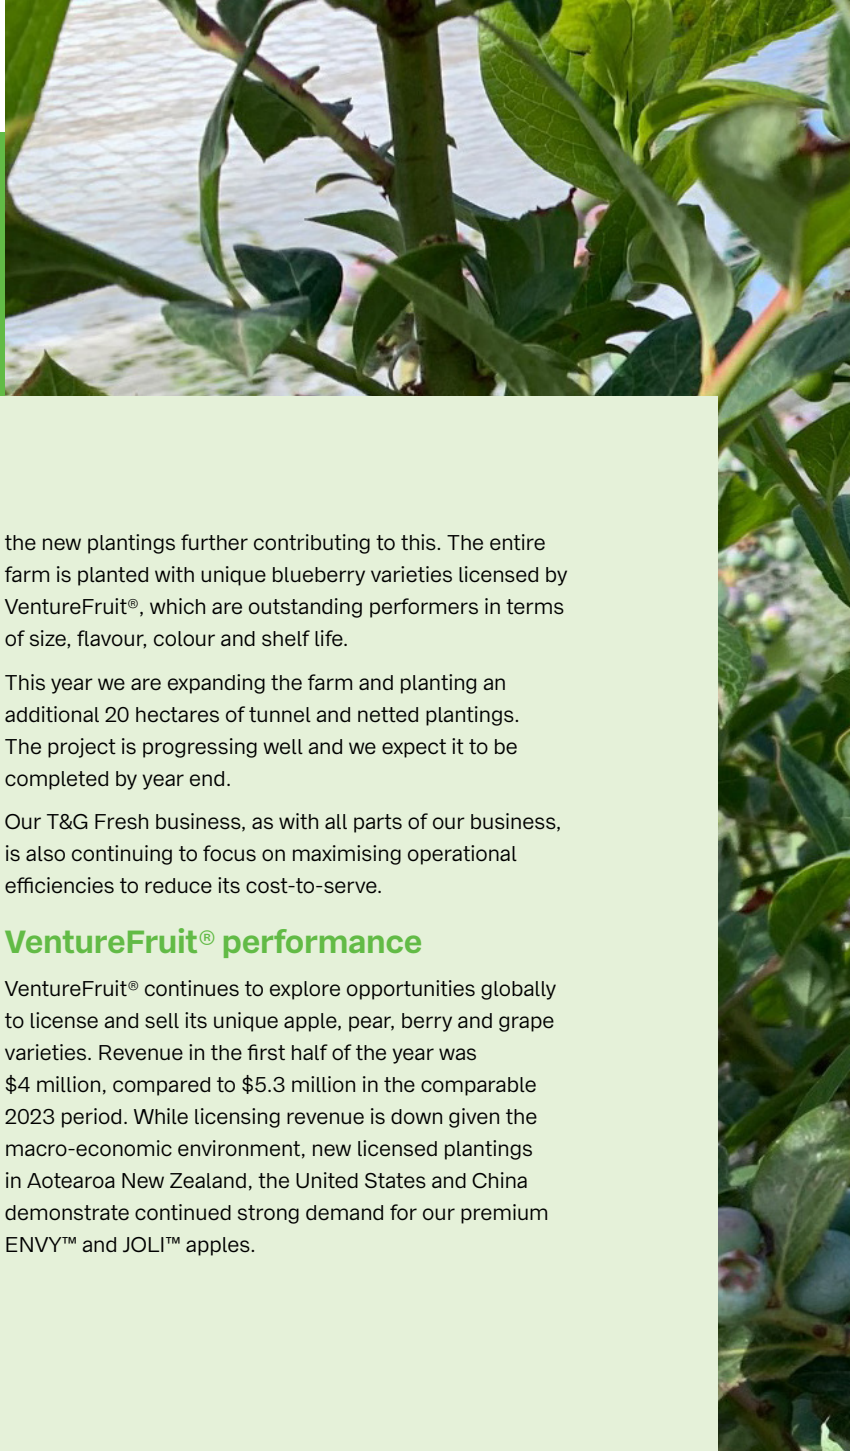

It is the first full season for both our new Whakatu packhouse and Kotahi leading the procurement of our ocean freight services. The packhouse is operating at planned efficiency levels, and continues to improve. We expect it to be a strong contributor to profitability in the coming years as volumes increase. Working with Kotahi has enabled us to realise cost savings and logistical efficiencies, and with this year's disruptions in the Red Sea and Panama Canal, it has helped minimise the impact on us and our growers.

With the high quality 2023/2024 North American ENVY™ apple crop, the brand is holding up exceptionally well in the challenging domestic market. Despite increased price and competition pressures accompanying the large volumes in the United States, ENVY™ apples are out-performing other premium brands in both pricing and sales.

In Asia, the North American crop experienced strong export sales. Having now transitioned to supplying the region with Aotearoa New Zealand-grown apples, we expect this momentum to continue throughout the season.

The reduced volumes out of Aotearoa New Zealand have further increased our focus on optimising efficiencies across our Apple operations. As part of this, we have made improvements in our inventory management and market planning, and we expect to see the financial benefits flow through in the second half of the year.

We continue to work through our Cyclone Gabrielle insurance claim and expect to have this resolved within the financial year.

T&G Fresh performance

T&G Fresh, our Australasian business, saw its revenue decrease to $218 million, compared to $232 million in the prior year.

Despite our Fijian and Pacific Islands business continuing to trade well, weak consumer sentiment in Aotearoa New Zealand – coupled with abundant produce given favourable growing conditions – means it has been a difficult trading period in Aotearoa New Zealand, with soft prices. In addition, our tomato volumes were reduced, largely due to the impact of whitefly.

As part of our fresh produce category strategy, in February we signed an agreement to acquire some of the assets of Hintons Orchard in Central Otago. This includes leasing 159 hectares of cherry, apricot, nectarine, peach, plum and peacharine trees, as well as their packhouse, with the summerfruit being sold domestically and in Asia. The transaction takes effect on 1 August, in time for the 2024/2025 season.

Initial production from our Queensland berry farm, which currently consists of 20 planted hectares, is coming online. At this point in the season, indications are good for a high yield and strong prices and we look forward to the new plantings further contributing to this. The entire farm is planted with unique blueberry varieties licensed by VentureFruit®, which are outstanding performers in terms of size, flavour, colour and shelf life.

This year we are expanding the farm and planting an additional 20 hectares of tunnel and netted plantings. The project is progressing well and we expect it to be completed by year end.

Our T&G Fresh business, as with all parts of our business, is also continuing to focus on maximising operational efficiencies to reduce its cost-to-serve.

VentureFruit® performance

VentureFruit® continues to explore opportunities globally to license and sell its unique apple, pear, berry and grape varieties. Revenue in the first half of the year was $4 million, compared to $5.3 million in the comparable 2023 period. While licensing revenue is down given the macro-economic environment, new licensed plantings in Aotearoa New Zealand, the United States and China demonstrate continued strong demand for our premium ENVY™ and JOLI™ apples.

Outlook

Our strategy is set and over the last few years we have invested significantly to set the foundations for our growth. Our focus is now on execution to drive performance and growth into the future.

At this point in the season, the 2024/2025 North American apple crop looks to be good quality, with fruit developing well despite low water supply. It's estimated our volumes will be around 5.5 million TCEs, a 17% increase on the prior year.

It is encouraging to see the early signs of easing inflation, which will have a consequential impact on interest rates. Not only will this help ease our own cost pressures, but it will benefit many New Zealanders. From this, we would expect to see improved consumer demand and prices.

Last year's cyclone and this year's reduced apple volumes – in spite of a largely favourable growing season – have highlighted the need to continue to develop resilience across our business. This will put T&G in a strong position, regardless of external factors.

We have a great team and they have responded strongly, looking for opportunities to reduce costs, continually optimise efficiencies and grow revenue, and develop pathways to help achieve our Kaitiakitanga sustainability targets to ensure we meet our medium-term strategic and financial objectives.

We look forward to seeing the outcome of this mahi in delivering our growth aspirations.

Critical accounting estimates and judgments

The Group makes estimates and judgments concerning the future. The resulting accounting estimates may, by definition, not equal the related actual results. The estimates and judgments used in the preparation of these unaudited condensed interim financial statements are consistent with those used in the 2023 Annual Report.

2. Segment information

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision-makers. The chief operating decision-makers have been identified as the Chief Executive Officer, the Chief Financial Officer and the Executive team of the Group.

The chief operating decision-makers assess the performance of the operating segments based on operating profit, which reflects earnings before financing income and expenses, share of profit from joint ventures and associates, other income, other expenses and income tax expense. Inter-segment pricing is determined on an arm's length basis and segment results include items directly attributable to a segment.

During the period, the Group reorganised its operating segments leading to the International Trading segment being aggregated into the Group's remaining operating segments. The aggregation was based on similarities of economic characteristics, particularly the similarities of long-term gross profit margins, nature of the products and services, methods of distribution of products and provision of services to customers, and markets involved.

No single external customer's revenue accounts for 10% or more of the Group's revenue.

4. Taxation

Current tax

Current tax expense for the interim periods presented is the expected tax payable on the taxable income for the period, calculated as the estimated average annual effective income tax rate applied to the pre-tax income of the interim period and adjusted for any permanent and timing differences.

Deferred tax

The amount of deferred tax provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amounts of the assets and liabilities, using the estimated average annual effective income tax rate for the interim periods presented.

Income tax (expense) / credit

Income tax expense at 30 June 2024 comprises of:

	Unaudited 6 months to 30 Jun 2024 $'000	Unaudited 6 months to 30 Jun 2023 $'000	Audited 12 months to 31 Dec 2023 $'000
Income tax credit	2,262	5,716	17,654
Deferred tax expense on buildings	(12,675)	-	-
Income tax (expense) / credit	(10,413)	5,716	17,654

On 28 March 2024, the New Zealand Government enacted changes to the tax legislation to remove the ability to depreciate buildings with a useful life over 50 years for tax deduction purposes. For the Group the application of this taxation change under NZ IAS 12 Income Taxes creates a tax carrying value of nil from 1 April 2024 onwards for these New Zealand buildings. This increases the deferred taxation liability by $12.7 million and creates a one-off, non-cash accounting adjustment to the taxation expense for deferred tax on buildings for the period ended 30 June 2024 of $12.7 million.

The application of NZ IAS 12 which creates this large deferred taxation liability does not reflect taxation payable if the assets were sold.
