Commentary and outlook

IKE CEO Glenn Milnes commented, "Q3 was a continuation of the very strong first half at IKE. We have achieved significant revenue and gross margin growth and are materially ahead of all internal stretch targets.

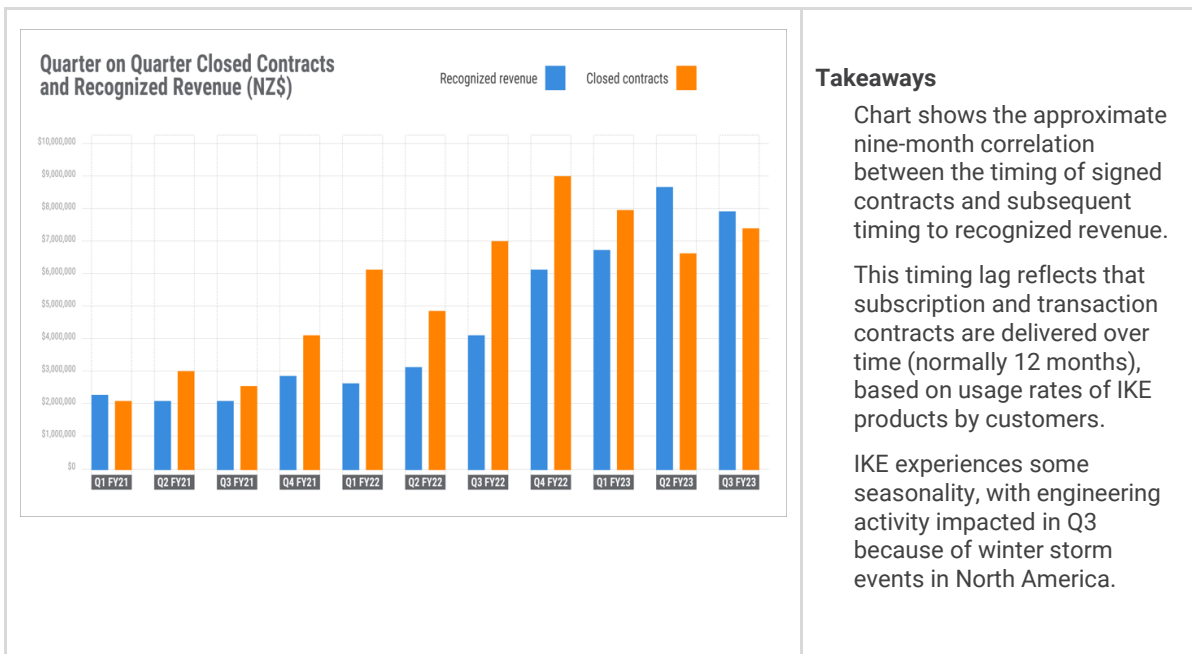

Our fortress balance sheet remains in place, noting that the USD and AUD fx rates impact our reported NZD position. Operating leverage is evident via the scalability of our software products and our disciplined approach to operating expenses.

Macro-market tailwinds across North America remain, driven by the multi-year investment being made into building overhead fiber networks, and separately, the more than $300B investment by electric utilities forecasted into building & maintaining distribution network capacity and associated network hardening. IKE's product drive material productivity gains to support these engineering activities.

We are executing on sizable sales opportunities and expect a healthy run rate of new contracts to close in the Q4 FY23 period and beyond."

The momentum across the business is set out in the following table and charts:

Takeaways

134% total revenue growth against PCP.

Recurring subscription and reoccurring transaction revenues (shown by the Green and Blue segments in this chart) dominate IKE's revenue mix, at >$20m YTD..

This element continues grow because of the investment into extending software products, underpinning more predictable growth with higher quality revenue.

Takeaways

Significant growth in transaction revenue has continued, with >350k assets engineered on the IKE platform under the transaction model YTD.

This is one of the primary indicators of platform usage by IKE customers, and is expected to remain a growth driver for the business.
